Many of our readers know something of the history of this Institution, but yet a brief allusion to its origin and purposes may not be out of place. It is now some six years had been connected with the Five Points House of Industry and "Old Brewery" Missions, finding the resources of these establishments fully absorbed by the demands of their neighborhood, determined to enlarge the field of usefulness by establishing a similar institution in a new place. With the cosperation of a few earnest friends, prominent among whom was Mr. J. D. Foote, he went down into the Fourth Ward to a neighborhood which, at that time rivaled even the notorious Five Points, as the abode of every species of misery, squalor, vice, and crime, and there, after long and persevering efforts succeeded in establishing the Howard Mission. For months after its foundation, the labor of sustaing the institution was not less arduous and wearying than its creation had been. Its only means of support was the small daily contributions obtained from private charity, mostly by the personal solicitations of its founders. It meet, too, with much opposition from the ignorance and prejudices of the degrader classes by whom it was surprounded. But Christian patience and manly perseverance finally triumphed, and the Howard Mission became an established fact. In its early days, during its time of struggle and hardship, Mr. Van Meter bore the entire responsibility of the work, but such was the final success of the undertaking that he at last felt the burden to be too great for him to bear, and, at his request, a Board of Managers was organized, and the institution regularly incorporated. During the last five pears of its existence, between 6,000 and 7,000 children have been taken from the streets, or from the dens of misery even were than the streets, washed, fed, clothed, and taught in the "Home." Hundreds have been placed in good homes. This evening the anniversary exhibition of the children of the mission will be given at Steinway's Hall. in Fourteentl-st, near the Academy of Music, when eminent speakers will be present to address the audience, and music and other exercises will be given by the children. Mr. Theodore E. Perkins, teacher of music acceptable to the audience. In addition to many beautiful hymns, anthems, choruses, etc., Handel's Grand Hallelatah Chorus will be performed. The orchestra will consist of the great organ in the hall, a Steinway grand pianc, and Grafulla's Seventh Regiment Band. Secured seats for the exhibition may be obtained at the office of Steinway's Hall, or at the Mission Hooms, by the payment of one deliar, and every dollar so received will be expended in the erection and furnishing of the new building.

Ar these exhibitions in former years, when held in the Academy of Music, have sometimes been so crowded that many friends have been unable to obtain admittance, this exhibition will be repeated on the evening of the lith of May in the same place, at the Brooklyn Academy of Music on the 10th, and at the Congregational Church in Jersey City on the evening of the 7th of May. We trust that on each occasion the place may be filled with the friends of the children, and that the money so contributed may be the means of bringing comfort and joy to many a sorrowing heart, rescaing many a precious human life from misery and crime.

THE FIRST OF MAY.

HOW THE ANNIVERSARY AFFECTS NEW-YORKERS MYSTERIES AND MISERIES OF MOVING-A WET DAY FOR HOUSE-CHANGING YESTERDAY.

This, the first day of May, which has long been eclebrated in England by various metry-makings as the inauguration of the Summer months, has for many years manguration of the Summer montas, has for many years had a very different meaning with New-Yorkers. To us—the dawn of May suggests nothing of May-poles, village-greens, or merrymakings. It means the moving of one's domical from one part of the city to another. It means households turned topsy-turvey, bedsteads unscrewed and screwed up again, broken crockery, drawer-less bureaus, mattresses rolled into shapeless wads and tied up with clothes-hare, luge bundles of ciothing, castories trunks, nuwlling carmen—haste, hurry, scramble, precipitation, annoyance, irritation, plague, bore, bother, and worriment; in short, everything unpleasant and disagreeable.

precipitation, annoyance, irritation, plague, bore, bother, and worriment; in short, everything unpleasant and disagreeable.

The noise, and confusion, and anxiety everywhere exhibited in New-York on our annual moving day has often given rise to the reflection as to why all leases should expire on this particular day, in order that all confusion should come at one. But the fact is before us, and there seems to be no escape from the infliction. Those who are far-seeing, and are at the same time able to do so, usually try to move before the first of the month in order to especially avoid that calmination of vexations—of one party moving into a house while another party is moving ent; but in most cases it cannot be avoided, and the confusion increases from day to day as the day is approached.

Yesterday, the last day of April grace, was the occasion of hundreds moving. Everything was unpropritions. Rain fell during the entire day. It was not a straight-forward, downright, honest pone, but one of those wretched, miserable, misty, drizzing, foggy, plereing, wetting-throughs, which try the patience more than a delaye. The car and truck men had a golden opportunity, which they did not fail to improve. Prices, which had been unconscionable before, were doubled. Dreary spectacles were esen in the streets; trucks and carts piled high with varied furniture sparsely covered with oll-cloths and rag carpets, and everything dripping with the rain; paterfamilias waitzing with market baskets filled with crockery and glassware, unchins carrying bird cages and fish globes, and melancholy servant-prifs winding up the rear with sundry packages; all soaking, streaming, puffing, sauffing, wheesing, perspiring, and splashing through the dirty streets. Then was afforded the yet more dreary spectacle of the ascending and descending of the hittered stoops, with the echoing lootfalls through the carpetless halls and chambers, the kerchiffed heads of the new mistresses, the dusty bonnets of the old, the oaths of the carmen, and all the did

THE PEBLIC HEALTH.

The following is the report of Dr. Harris Registrar of Vital-Statistics, for the week ending April 27:

METROPOLITAN BOARD OF HEALTH, BUREAU OF VITAL STATISTICS, April 60, 1867. BUREAU OF VITAL STATISTICS, April 60, 1867. S
In the week ending April 27 there were 405 deaths in New-York, including 72 in public institutions—68 of them being in the island hospitals. There were 105 deaths in Brooklyn, exclusive of the Kings County institutions. This mortality is equivalent to a yearly death-rate of 25.41 per 1,000 living in New-York, and of 20.54 per 1,000 in Brooklyn, by census of 1855.

Zymotic cames destroyed: 105 lives in New-York institutions, and 22 in Brooklyn; or 25.90 per cent of all who died in the former, and 18.00 per cent of all deaths in the latter city. These perished in the first year of infancy 120 in New-York, or 29.52 per cent of the death from all causes, and 35 in Erooklyn, or 29.91 of the total list. The donatitational and local inflammatory diseases, so called, were the chief causes of mortality in both cities, and the xymotic diseases increased slightly upon the previous weeks of the month, and they scarcely veried from the rece rds of the sorrespending week of the preceding year. The 6 deathsfrom puerperal infections, and the x from ery-upelas, will not be disreparded by physicians.

The operation of fafal diseases last week was, as usual, very unequally distributed through the different Wards of New York. If we compare the population and the death-rates of the salubrious and the assubbrions distributed hat for the well-housed, cleanly, well-fed, to the badly-housed, uncleanly, fenant-house population—we find their death records last week to read as follows:

The mortality reports from other great cities compare favorably to this metropolis. In the first week of April London had a death-rate equal to 25 per 1,000; Edinburgh, 28; Dublin, 28; Liverpool, 20; and in Vicuna (the previous week) the rate was 35 per 1,000 annually. Cholera was not reported in last returns by any of the cities mentioned. We may reasonably expect that commercial towns in the Mississippi Valley will this year be the only sources whence the cholera will be transported to us. But the Western and Southern cities are alive to the duty of suppressing, by active means, every cause of the epidemic. Civic cleanliness and the prompt care of the sick begin to take their just rank as cardinal virtues.

VERDICT FOR THE CONTESTANT.

The Jury in this case, after being closeted all night, endered a decision in favor of Mr. David L. Gardiner, the contestant of the will. Unless this decision is reversed in a higher court, it leaves the property contested for to be equally divided between Mr. Gardiner, his sister, Mrs. Juliana G. Tyler, and their nephew, Harry Beckman. The value of the property involved is $180,000. There has been a variance of opinion in regard to the will in question. At the first trial of the case before the supreme Court the validity of the will was attested; this decision was set aside in the Court of Appeals, and a new trial ordered; now it is found to have been procured by fraud and undue influence. There is also the probability of an appeal from this decision to the General Term of the Supreme Court, as a motion to that effect was made by Mr. Evarts, the counsel of Mrs. Tyler, yesterday, and he was granted one week in which to prepare a case, with a view to arguing the questions involved. The Jury presented the following verdict on all the issues:

1. Was Juliana Gardiner at the time of executing and publishing the instrument in writing, bearing date Oct. 4, 1863, purporting to be her last will and testament, of sound and disposing mind, memories and understanding? The Jury answer. No.

2. Was the will procured by Julia G. Tyler, by frand or undne influence? The Jury answer, Yes.

3. Did Juliana Gardiner devise her real estate to the persons, for the estates, upon the condition and to the effect declared and expressed in the writing purporting to be her last will a G. THE WAGES OF CARRIAGE-BLACKSMITHS. We are in the receipt of the following from a arge manufacturer:

To the Editor of The Tribune.

SIR: In your paper of this date you publish a schedule of highest wages paid to journeymen in the various branches of trade here. In this list carriage-blacksmiths branches of trade here. In this list carriage-blacksmiths are put down at $3.50 per day. This is an error, and your informant, if connected with the trade, must have known it to be such, and we beg to correct it, lest the public should be misled. In our shop we pay $4.50 per day to all our best smiths on light work, and our smiths on heavy work make ever $6 per day—working by the piece. If your reporter will call on us we will gladly show him our workmen's books, and can prove to him that many of them make $6 and $7 per day working regular hours at piece prices. We have always yielded to the demands of our men for advanced wages, but of late their demands have been unjust and decidedly injurious to the trade. Yours. New Fork, April 30, 1867.

New-York, April 30, 1867. A mass meeting of workmen will be held this even-ing at the John W. Farmer Institute, No. 49 Ludlow-st., to discuss the subject of cooperation and its application in supplying homes for the working classes.

THE JOURNEYMEN HORSESHOERS OF BROOKLYN. A meeting of the Journeymen Horseshoers Union of Brooklyn was held last evening at Montague Hall. The following gentlemen were elected officers for the en-suing year: President, M. F. McDonald; Vice-President, W. Wayland; Secretary, S. McCann. Considerable dis-cussion ensued as to the propriety of striking for higher wages and eight-hours on Saturday. The general impres-sion seemed to be that the Union should "wait and watch," and with this idea the matter was laid over for week, and the meeting adjourned.

THE JOURNEYMEN CARPENTERS.

Carpenters Union No. 3, following the example of Union No. 1, has withdrawn from the Carpenters' Intelligence Office, at No. 267 Bowery, all but one delegate. It is believed that three men-representing the three Unions—can manage the Office until the Unions shall declare the strike closed, and the three are to be kept there until that time. Yesterday morning every carpenter that all plied was promptly given a $4 50b, and at noon not an unemployed man remained in the Office, while the Strike Committees desk was loaded with cards of employers wanting workmen at $4 a day. Union No. 3, last night, instructed its delegates to the Workingmen's Union to vote for the promulgation of a password to the various trade erganizations. BASE BALL. THE EUREKAS AND INVINGTONS.

The long talked of match between these two well known clubs, is at last decided upon. Some weeks ago the Irvingtons challenged the Eurekas to play a home and home match, and yesterday morning the Irvingtons were officially notified that the Eurekas would meet them at Irvington on Tuesday, May 7. This game will undoubtedly draw out a large concourse of spectators, as both clubs have hosts of friends, and each numbers among its first nine some excellent players.

The $400 racket match between Messrs. Foulkes and Devoe, the champion and ex-champion players of America, and William Gray, the English champion, and his brother, was played yesterday afternoon. Owing to the weather and the unfavorable state of the court, the stakes and all bets were drawn. The American players were victorious, scoring four games to their opponents two in the best of seven, constituting the mat h.

MARINE LIFE-SAVING COMMISSION.-The Commision yesterday proceeded to the Delamater Iron Works and tested a patest anchor, after which there were some experiments made with non-inflammable paint. Pieces of wood coated with the paint were placed into a forge fire without igniting. A miniature bale of cotton saturated with the paint was covered with hot coals, and put through the same process. The Commission afterward proceeded to Communipaw, where there was a successful trial of Levy's Fire Extinguisher.

He proposes thus to save transportation—a very considerable item in the cost of leather. Dr. L. D. Gale read an interesting paper descriptive of

THE EXCISE LAW .- The first of May being at hand the rush of persons who desire to renew their licenses is naturally great. Nearly all of the licences granted by the Board of Pelice, will expire on the first of May (to-day), and the holders thereof are correspondingly eager to secure a renewal of their whisky-selling privileges. It so happens, however, that many of the persons who secured licences heretofore, have violated the conditions on which they were granted—they have either sold rum after midnight, or on Sunday, or in some other way transgressed the conditions of their license; and so, now that they ask for a renewal of their privileges, they are naturally rather 'skittish,' and are exceedingly fearful of not obtaining the documents they so much desire. It is estimated that the coming year will not yield nearly so great a sum to the treasury as have the years before; for the reason that the Board exercises much more care in granting licenses, and have therefore much decreased the number of saloons in the city. The owners of saloons, being warned by the heavy fines inflicted on them whenever they are hauled up before the police courts, will doubtless in the future keep their respective houses much more respectable and quiet than heretofore. naturally great. Nearly all of the licences granted by the

THE SALARIES OF POSTAL CLERKS INCREASED. There was something of an excitement at the Post Office yesterday owing to the fact of its being the regular day for the payment of salaries, and the increase recently for the payment of salaries, and the increase recently added; those receiving $1,000 or less, 20 pet cent; those over $1,000, 10 per cent. Some of the clerks were skeptical, and were hardly disposed to believe the official announcement, made several days since, that they were to be favored with an increase, and it was not until they were confronted by the Cashier that they were convinced of their good fortune. Post-Master Kelly came in for his share of praise, as it is generally understood that he has been mainly instrumental in influencing the Department at Washington in favor of an increase of salaries.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FARMERS' CLUB. - At the meeting yesterday, the Chairman mentioned the fact that last year Martin birds first appeared on April 22, and this year April 22, and stated that this was the day alleged for their first appearance. They left last year on Dec. 22. The subject of plastic slate was discussed, and a roof was proposed for examination. Several roofs of this material were mentioned as having failed. Mr. Greeley said he thought very well of it, but considered a slate roof superior. A long discussion then took place on the soil of Vineland, N. J., several persons having come from that place to speak of its merits. The conclusion reached was that it required a plenty of missure. A patent fruit gatherer from Ohio was shown, and commended. A full-sized wind-mill for farm use—such as grinding grain and cutting fodder—was in the room, and its working explained. The former trial of straw-cutters not giving satisfaction, the Committee will give notice when persons can show the working of their machines. Full reports of the meeting will appear in The Weekly and Semi-Weekly Tribuxe. year April 22, and stated that this was the day alleged

MEETING OF THE STREET CLEANING COMMIS-SIONERS.—The Board met at 12 o'clock noon yesterday, his Honor the Mayor in the Chair. Dr. W. G. Wood of Harlem, complained that Third-ave., from One-hundred-Harlem, complained that Third-ave., from One-hundred-and-ninth-st. to Harlem River had not been swept for a great while, and he desired the fact might be brought to the knowledge of the Street Cleaning Commissioner. Street Cleaning Contractor ex-Judge James R. Whiting was brought before the Board, and he said his contract did not compel him to sweep streets which had not been paved up to the time he signed his contract. The Corporation Counsel then offered the following:

Whereas, it has been reported to this Commission that some of the Third-ave, from One-hundred-and-inth-st. to the Barlem River has been unawept for nearly a year, and,
Whereas, The Contractor has stated his opinion that he is not obliged under his contract to sweep the same, or any other of the atreets not pared at the date of the contract, therefore,
Resolved, That the Contractor be informed that it is the manimous opinion of the Commission that he is bound under said contract to sweep all the streets of the City of New York, whether the same, were paved at the date of as add contract or not, and that he be directed to sweep the same.

CARD FROM JUDGE CONNOLLY, POLICE COURT FOURTH DISTRICT,

EAST FIFTT-SEVENTH-ST., NEAR THIRD-AVE.,

NEW-YORK, April 30, 1867. To the Editor of The Tribune.

SIR: The statements of the public press in relation to prisoners taken to, and detained at, the Police Headquarters in Mulberry at, omit to mention the fact that this Court is constantly in session during the hours prescribed by law; and that the high-handed acts of the police, in compelling persons under arrest to pass by the Court-House police, in compelling persons under arrest to pass by the Court-House and be taken some three miles away to be kept in confinement, without a hearing from morning until night, are so many violations of the law, which says: "In all cases where persons are arrested upon criminal charges there shall, with an little delay as possible, be conducted before a magistrate, to be dealt with as the law directs."

The only reason offered for the perportation of these outrages is, that I have, in some instances, dared to interdict the exercise of despotic powers over innocent and monfielding citizens to gratify the private malice of had men in authority. That malice can now be fully satisfied through the "star-chamber" inquisition they have lilegally established under their own immediate appearsion. Respectfully yours,

MCHARL CONNOLLY, Potice Justice.

THE IMMENSE PROFITS OF THE TEA TRADE. The Proprietors became fully convinced, several years ago, that comnmers of Tea and Coffee were paying too many and too large profits on these articles of every day consumption, and therefore organised THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA COMPANY, to do away, as far as possible, with these enormous drains upon the Consumers, and to supply them with these necessaries at the smallest possible price.

TEA COMPANY,

ESTABLISHED 1861.

To give our readers an idea of the profits which have been made in the Tea trade, we will start with the American houses, leaving out of the account entirely the profits of the Chinese factors. lat. The American House, in China or Japan makes large profits of their sales or shipments—and some of the richest retired merchants !

this country have made their immense fortunes through their houses h 2d. The Banker makes large profits upon the foreign exchange used in the purchase of Texa.

3d. The Importer makes a profit of 30 to 50 per cent in many cases.

4th. On its arrival here it is sold by the cargo, and the Parchaser sells is to the Speculator in invoices of 1,000 to 2,000 packages, at an average

5th. The Speculator sells it to the Who'erale Tea Dealer in lines, at a profit of 10 to 15 per cent. 6th. The Wholesale Tea Dealer sells it to the Wholesale Grocer in lote to suit his trade, at a profit of about 10 per cent.

7th. The Wholesale Grocer sells it to the Retail Dealer at a profit of 15 to 25 per cent.

8th. The Retailer sells it to the Consumer for all the profit he can get When you have ashed to these most profits as many brokerages cartages, storages, cooperages, and waste, and add the original cost of the Tea, it will be perceived what the consumer has to pay. And now we propose to show why we can sell so very much lower than other dealers. We propose to do away with all those various profits and brokerages, cartages, storages, cooperages, and waste, with the exception of a small commission paid for purchasing to our correspondents in China and Japan one cartage, and a small profit to ourselves-which, on our large sale will amply pay us.

Parties getting their Teas from us may confidently rely upon getting them pure and frosh, as they come direct from the Custom-House stor to our warehouses.

The Company continue to sell at the following prices
